

INTERNATIONAL GLOBAL SHORTWAVE CLUB

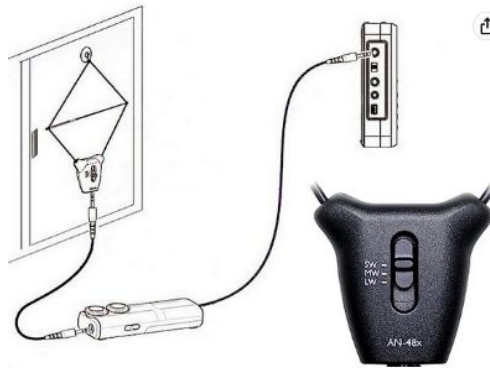

August 5, 2023

Dear Global Shortwave Club member:

I recently received a letter from one of our friends, GSWC 1710, from Cleveland, OH. She expressed her interest in the Ferrite Sleeve Loop antenna I discussed in the May monthly letter and asked where to buy it.

I am glad she brought this up because I did not mention that FSL antennas are “build it yourself.” Although I have not assembled one myself, the more I learn about it, the more I want to try.

In future letters, I will give more details on what to get and how to assemble, but for now, I thought I would share an item I thought would be a good substitution for those looking for better reception.

If you are like me and do not have time to assemble one, I recommend the Tecsun AN-48X Indoor Active Loop AM/LW/SW Radio Antenna. Walmart sells them for $44.99. Although I have not used one myself, there are many positive reviews. It requires batteries; based on the diagram, you can hang it on a window or door inside your home. The diamond loop hangs on a plastic hook attached to a suction cup that you can move around if you have difficulty hearing a station.

Thanks to GSWC 1710 for contacting us; I appreciate the questions and hope I answered them thoroughly.

Take care and good listening!
